

Landex is a membership organisation representing in excess of 35 Further and Higher Education Colleges across the UK with substantial specialist provision in land based and related subjects. Landex's role is to present a professional single voice for the sector at regional and national level and to enhance the quality and promote the profiles and activities of all member colleges.

CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Landex

Land Based Colleges
Aspiring To Excellence

Attractive Package

Following a very successful tenure the current Chief Executive is retiring and a successor is sought to build upon the significant achievements to date and to take the organisation forward.

There are many new and exciting challenges ahead and the Chief Executive will represent the views and opinions of the organisation, its members and the land based sector on a wide range of issues at national, regional and sectoral level.

Applicants will ideally have served as a Chief Executive, a college Principal or similar board level post within a complex multi-disciplinary organisation. Knowledge of the education sector; in particular specialist land-based provision and its industries will be an advantage but is by no means essential. Most importantly, applicants will have a reputation for sound judgement, strategic leadership and be able to demonstrate their success in developing productive relationships and their ability to influence a range of key stakeholders.
